

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY FOR POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Students may have questions on a range of topics from academic standards to graduation requirements. To successfully navigate the policies and practices of the institution, we invite you to take some time to read the Graduate Policies and Procedures (<http://bulletin.du.edu/graduate/>).

Individual schools and departments may have additional policies particular to their graduate programs. Please make sure you understand both; however, it is important to know that unit-specific policies do not override university-wide policies. Please consider contacting the Office of Graduate Education for questions about the university's policies and procedures.
