DEFERRALS AND TERM CHANGES

Prior to an admission decision:
• After submitting an application but prior to receiving an admission decision, applicants may request a one-time change to the term to which they originally applied. Formal requests can be made to either the Office of Graduate Education or to the College/School to which they applied.

Admitted Students:
• If an applicant wishes to defer their term of entry after receiving an offer of admission, they must first pay the deposit. Deposited students may submit a formal request prior to the start of term to the College/School in which they were accepted or to the Office of Graduate Education to defer their enrollment for up to one year. Students may request to enroll in an earlier or later start term, but only one deferral will be granted per application.
• A deposited student must request a deferral by the last day for 100% refund for dropped classes of the admission term; otherwise the student’s admission will be withdrawn. A deposited student that misses this deadline can make a one-time request to the College/School in which they were accepted for reactivation of admission into the program. Though previously admitted, there is no guarantee admission will be reactivated. If approved, admission will be reactivated and deferred to the next available term but no later than one year from the original admission term.

*If funding was awarded with the original admission offer, there is no guarantee that it will be offered for the new start term. It is the deposited student’s responsibility to consult with a representative from the College/School of admission to understand the options.

*At the discretion of the College/School, submission of a new application, supporting application materials, and payment of another application fee may be required.
