

ADMISSIONS EXAMINATIONS

Some programs require standardized test scores such as the Graduate Record Examination (GRE). The University of Denver's ETS Institution Code is 4842. Individual graduate programs reserve the right to set test score requirements.

If an exam is required for admission, it must be taken prior to acceptance. The official test scores issued directly from the appropriate testing agency must be received no later than the start of the first term of enrollment, or a hold will be placed prohibiting registration.

Test score validation deadlines are set by the testing agency. It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure official test scores can be reported directly to the University.
