

REACTIVATION OF APPLICATION

An applicant may submit a one-time request to reactivate their incomplete application (submitted application that is missing required materials or the application fee) or completed application that was withdrawn prior to receiving an admission decision to the same program, regardless of delivery mode. The start term for the reactivated application must be within one year of the academic term to which they originally applied (e.g., fall 2017 to fall 2018, or winter 2016 to spring 2016). Additionally, the program must still be accepting applications.

If an applicant wishes to seek admission to a different program, then submission of a new application, supporting materials and payment of the application fee are required.

If more than one year from the start date of the academic term of the original application has elapsed, then submission of a new application, supporting materials and payment of the application fee are required.
