

MORGRIDGE COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

The University of Denver's Morgridge College of Education is committed to preparing highly competent, socially responsible, ethical and caring professionals to promote learning in diverse settings. With a guiding commitment to excellence, our programs offer high-quality and rigorous academics with an emphasis on relevant, impactful practices through field experiences, research and community-oriented projects. Through our focus on inclusiveness and innovation, we strive to create purposeful learning experiences designed to transform people and ideas.

With several regionally and nationally recognized programs, the College is known for its diverse, high quality students and alumni. The College offers face-to-face, hybrid, and online certificate, master's and doctoral programs in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies; Higher Education; Research Methods and Statistics; Library and Information Science; Teacher Preparation; Curriculum and Instruction; Early Childhood Special Education; School Counseling; School Psychology; and Counseling Psychology.