

TUITION CHARGES

Students who began their graduate program prior to the fall of 2020 are eligible for flat-rate billing through the summer of 2025. If you are registered for 12-18 credits, you will only be charged for 12 credits. If you register for more than 18 credits, you'll be charged for 12 credits plus the per-hour rate for each credit above 18.

Students who began their graduate program in the fall of 2020 term or later are billed per credit for every registered credit.

Tuition charges for residents or non-residents of Colorado are the same. The University reserves the right to make changes in tuition charges or refund policies without advance notice.

Other academic programs, such as Sturm College of Law, Daniels College of Business, the College of Professional Studies and some distance education programs, may have a different tuition rate and students in those programs may not be eligible for the flat rate. Tuition charges for residents or non-residents of Colorado are the same. The University reserves the right to make changes in tuition charges or refund policies without advance notice.
