

FIRST-YEAR SEMINAR PROGRAM

The instructor for the student's FSEM 1111 First Year Seminar serves as the student's primary faculty for the introduction to the intellectual life of the University. Our FSEM faculty provide first year students with consistent mentoring and support while navigating university academic experiences. This course is required for all first-time, first-year students. Students register for FSEM 1111 online the summer prior to their enrollment. Students who do not pass or withdraw from their First-Year Seminar will be required to take two Advanced Seminars (ASEMs) to complete their Common Curriculum requirements.
